Ruined by Whiskey.

One of the best Greek scholars in New York city is a guard on the elevated railroad. Not long ago a famous professor in one of our leading universities published a volume on certain features of the ancient Greek dialects, of interest only to scholars. The "L" guard referred to wrote to a newspaper, pointing out several errors made by the professor in his book, and signed himself by his road and number. After a month's search a correspondent found the man. "How does it happen," he said, showing his card, "that you, a Greek scholar of first rank, should be doing such work as this?" He looked at the correspondent sadly, and his red face flushed more than usual. "I was the best Hellenist of my year at Dublin," he replied. "My Greek is still what it used to be, but my career has been ruined by—whiskey!"—Selected.

CATARH SEAS

Disease Most Prevalent in the Fall Months—Simple Way to Cure.

With the cool nights of fall catarrh troubles in Barre are becoming more and more prevalent, and the Red Cross pharmacy, as a consequence, finds the sales of Hyomei increasing.

At the first warning of catarrh, one should begin using Hyomei. A few days' treatment at this season of the year will often prevent a serious and chronic attack of catarrh.

There is no stomach dosing with Hyomei. The virtues of its healing oils and balsams are breathed through a neat pocket inhaler that comes with every outfit, and in that way the medication penetrates to the most remote cells of the nose, throat and lungs, killing catarrhal germs wherever present, and soothing and healing any irritation there may be in the mucous membrane.

If you have a cold, or there is any offensive discharge from the nose, or tickling or dropping at the back of the throat, if there is offensive breath, raising of mucous, and snoring and irritation in the throat, if there are any of the symptoms that indicate catarrhal troubles, begin the use of Hyomei at once.

You take no risk in paying $1 for a Hyomei outfit, as the Red Cross pharmacy gives its personal guarantee that if the remedy does not afford satisfaction, your money will be refunded at once. Extra bottles of Hyomei, if needed, cost but 50 cents, making this the most economical treatment for catarrh, as well as the most reliable.
